About 100 people from the Larchmere neighborhood gathered in the late afternoon November 1, to take in the street’s newest mural, “An Homage to Books and Community” on the east wall of Loganberry Books. The dedication included speakers from the community, artist Gene Epstein, a proclamation expressing gratitude from the City of Shaker Heights, a poetry reading and refreshments for everyone.

About one year in the making, co-chairs Joyce Pratt and Lynne Alfred led the committee seeking suggestions for book titles and winnowing the 150+ suggestions into the actual 50 titles depicted in the mural. Some were nominations from Larchmere merchants: James Boyd of Polished Professionals nominated “Milady’s Standard Textbook of Professional Barber Styling,” while Liz Tekus of Fine Points suggested “The Knitter’s Stash.” More nominations that made the leap to the finished mural include works from local authors: Danielle Ruppert of Menu 6 suggested Laura Taxel’s “Cleveland Ethnic Eats,” while four people nominated Sarah Willis’ novel “Some Things That Stay,” and Les Roberts’ latest Cleveland-based novel “The Cleveland Creep.” Students nominating final entries include Destiny Campbell, a student at Harvey Rice Elementary School who nominated the children’s classic “Corduroy,” and no less than six nominations for the Paul Langan “Bluford High” series, while Jean Pekoe, a teacher at Our Lady of Peace nominated Langston Hughes’ “Milady’s Standard Textbook of Professional Barber Styling;” while Liz Tekus of Fine Points suggested “The Knitter’s Stash.”

More nominations that made the leap to the finished mural include works from local authors: Danielle Ruppert of Menu 6 suggested Laura Taxel’s “Cleveland Ethnic Eats,” while four people nominated Sarah Willis’ novel “Some Things That Stay,” and Les Roberts’ latest Cleveland-based novel “The Cleveland Creep.” Students nominating final entries include Destiny Campbell, a student at Harvey Rice Elementary School who nominated the children’s classic “Corduroy,” and no less than six nominations for the Paul Langan “Bluford High” series, while Jean Pekoe, a teacher at Our Lady of Peace nominated Langston Hughes’ “Milady’s Standard Textbook of Professional Barber Styling.”

Don’t miss this critical meeting with updates on the merger of Shaker Square Area Development Corp and the Buckeye Area Development Corp., as well as a chance to meet and mingle with your neighbors!

Immediately following the meeting, from 12:00 to 2:00 pm, SHAD is offering a special event, www.shad.org. Learn what services are available in the neighborhood, from curb appeal projects to renovation. Come for the breakfast and stay for the information.

For more information about the community meeting, call SHAD at 216-421-2100 or visit www.shad.org.

The Coral Company Moves to Shaker Square

by Rita Kueber

The Coral Company, the Cleveland real estate management and development company, has relocated its offices from Cedar Center in University Heights, to its flagship retail center at Shaker Square. The Square is owned and managed by Coral with their new offices at 13219 Shaker Square.

“By moving to the Square, we are able to directly oversee day-to-day operations, and now have the added benefit of on-site communication with our tenants and customers,” said Joan Emmett, Vice President of Marketing. “This location also puts us closer to downtown Cleveland, where we own and manage a number of apartment buildings and condominium associations.”

About fifty people from the Shaker Square, Larchmere and Buckeye communities, as well as developers and building owners from throughout Northeast Ohio attended the official ribbon cutting at the new offices on October 13. Cleveland Mayor Frank Jackson along with City Council members Kenneth Johnson and Mamie Mitchell cut the big blue ribbon along with Coral Company’s President and CEO, Peter Rubin.

The Coral Company was founded in 1987 and has owned Shaker Square since 2004. At first, the company’s offices were located in Beachwood, Ohio, then at Cedar Center. Today their offices are above the CVS on the northeast quadrant of the Square.
Larchmere Holiday Stroll

At the venerable age of 30+, the annual Thanksgiving weekend shopping extravaganza, the Larchmere Holiday Stroll took place November 25-26.

From the hot chocolate offered by Polished Professionals to the specials at Flying Cranes, three dozen locally-owned businesses welcomed hundreds of holiday shoppers over the weekend with music, treats, and more. Larchmere also welcomed back Bazar Bizar “not your granny’s craft fair” with two-dozen crafter and artists offering indie-fare. (“No more mass produced mall stuff!”) Foodie truck the Nosh Box was on the street as well. After shopping hours, the street’s restaurants offered plenty of specials to boot. Fine weather, fine friends, fine shopping.

Invasive Species

A site specific sculpture installation by artist, Ian Pretorius, has been evident at Felice for the past few weeks. A piece entitled “Invasive Species,” uses vinyl siding recently removed from a Larchmere neighborhood home that is being restored to its original historical character. The goal of the installation was to provoke critical thought about the use of toxic, unsustainable building materials.

Following the Home Tour on September 17, the sculpture was moved to the garden at Felice Urban Café (12502 Larchmere Boulevard). On November 26 during the Larchmere Holiday Stroll, Felice screened the documentary “Blue Vinyl,” that explores the potentially toxic effects of PVC, and the various components (vinyl “grass tufts”) of the sculpture were offered for sale. Proceeds from the sale of the sculpture go to the Neighborhoods of Shaker Square Home Tour fund.

A Letter to the Shaker Square Community

I am writing on behalf of the Shaker Square Area Development Corporation. For close to 45 years, our organization has worked to revitalize and sustain our commercial districts and neighborhoods. We have worked to empower the people who live and work in our community to play an active role in our work.

In 2005, in an effort to improve our revitalization efforts, SHAD collaborated with Buckeye Area Development Corporation (BADC) on the Buckeye Larchmere Community Planning Initiative. With the financial support of Neighborhood Progress, Inc (NPI) and Saint Luke’s Foundation, these two neighborhoods embarked on a process that has continued to benefit the residents and merchants to this day. When you think about Harvey Rice School and Rice Library; or when you enjoy artistic murals and sculptures you can look...you can look to the conversations that took place almost a decade ago. These efforts created the results we see today. These conversations helped our communities learn about each other and we were surprised at the fact that while we are each unique, we had more in common with each other and we were surprised at the fact that while we are each unique, we had more in common with each other.

Thank you so much and look forward to a fun evening!

Yours Truly

Shaker Square, the Rapid Transit, and most significantly, committed, passionate people.

Since that time, SHAD and BADC have continued to collaborate on several fronts. We continue to work to improve our quality of life for residents through housing development and home repair programs. Through the help of our commercial development programs and creative improvements like landscaping and public art, our commercial districts continue to thrive.

In recent years, along with the negative downturns of the economy, non-profit organizations have had to struggle with funding challenges in order to stay in business. The downturn has made it necessary for both private foundations along with federal and city governments to significantly cut funding to non-profit community development groups. SHAD and BADC included. In fact, several Cleveland community organizations have closed or severely reduced service in past years as a result.

SHAD remains—alas committed to the health and sustainability of our communities despite daunting resources. So, last year, we decided to be proactive about the situation and have a conversation about how we can expand our collaboration with BADC and use the limited funds to the advantage of our communities. With the financial support of NPI, our key funder and partner, the Board of Trustees of BADC and SHAD created a 12-member steering committee to work with a consultant to explore various options for collaboration. The consultant’s task began with several focus groups of community leaders throughout both communities. From these meetings we learned that people are still very passionate about our community—whether it is preserving the identity of each individual neighborhood and commercial district; respecting the voice of each resident, merchant and property owner; or upholding the legacy of collaboration between the community and taking advantage of the strengths of the collaborative assets.

A lot of sweat, anxiety and passion have gone into this conversation over the last year and we still need your input. This conversation must acknowledge both the financial realities of funding and the essential needs of the community. Unfortunately, the current economic situation is causing a dramatic change in our organization’s future—and we think it can be for the better. We at SHAD feel that, together with BADC, we can create an organization that builds upon the legacy of both organizations. But, this change cannot and will not happen without you—the community. Look for future communications in the coming months for more insight into our organizational strategy as well as our plan for a community engagement process that will give everyone a voice in moving our community forward.

Respectfully,

Kendisha Pierce
Board President
Shaker Square Area Development Corp.

Thank you so much and look forward to a fun evening!

Yours Truly

Shaker Square, the Rapid Transit, and most significantly, committed, passionate people.

Since that time, SHAD and BADC have continued to collaborate on several fronts. We continue to work to improve our quality of life for residents through housing development and home repair programs. Through the help of our commercial development programs and creative improvements like landscaping and public art, our commercial districts continue to thrive.

In recent years, along with the negative downturns of the economy, non-profit organizations have had to struggle with funding challenges in order to stay in business. The downturn has made it necessary for both private foundations along with federal and city governments to significantly cut funding to non-profit community development groups. SHAD and BADC included. In fact, several Cleveland community organizations have closed or severely reduced service in past years as a result.

SHAD remains—alas committed to the health and sustainability of our communities despite daunting resources. So, last year, we decided to be proactive about the situation and have a conversation about how we can expand our collaboration with BADC and use the limited funds to the advantage of our communities. With the financial support of NPI, our key funder and partner, the Board of Trustees of BADC and SHAD created a 12-member steering committee to work with a consultant to explore various options for collaboration. The consultant’s task began with several focus groups of community leaders throughout both communities. From these meetings we learned that people are still very passionate about our community—whether it is preserving the identity of each individual neighborhood and commercial district; respecting the voice of each resident, merchant and property owner; or upholding the legacy of collaboration between the community and taking advantage of the strengths of the collaborative assets.

A lot of sweat, anxiety and passion have gone into this conversation over the last year and we still need your input. This conversation must acknowledge both the financial realities of funding and the essential needs of the community. Unfortunately, the current economic situation is causing a dramatic change in our organization’s future—and we think it can be for the better. We at SHAD feel that, together with BADC, we can create an organization that builds upon the legacy of both organizations. But, this change cannot and will not happen without you—the community. Look for future communications in the coming months for more insight into our organizational strategy as well as our plan for a community engagement process that will give everyone a voice in moving our community forward.

Respectfully,

Kendisha Pierce
Board President
Shaker Square Area Development Corp.

The Connection

Restaurant & Deli Guide

Academy Tavern 12000 Larchmere, 229-1171
Bistro Maxim 12600 Larchmere, 791-8512
Captain Tony’s Pizza and Pasta 13200 Shaker Square, 761-TONY (8669)
Denver’s Tap & Trade Coffee 13201 Shaker Square, 991-1171
Johnny’s Larchmere Deli & Beverages 12721 Larchmere, 721-0220
Oliver’s 12902 Larchmere, 791-0918
Andy’s Bar-B-Q 13200 Shaker Square, 921-FIRE (3473)
Flying Cactus Café 13000 Larchmere, 795-1633
Grillo’s Wine Bar & Restaurant 13101 Shaker Square, 751-6002
Jackson Demko’s Work 27500 Van Aken Blvd, 223-3808
Larchmere Tavern 12021 Larchmere, 721-3215
Marino’s 12714 Larchmere Blvd, 791-6948
Michael’s Diner 13011 Shaker Blvd, 782-0552
Pasta Raha 13139 Shaker Square, 767-1171
Sergeant’s Tavern 12325 Shaker Square, 295-1200
Sergio’s 13135 Shaker Square, 751-6770
Vino & Beer Café 12700 Larchmere, 707-3333
Zestful’s 13128 Shaker Square, 751-6946
Zenzabar Wine Fusion 13147 Shaker Square, 916-8422

Larchmere Holiday Stroll

The commercial building at the corner of Avalon and Chagrin, just east of Lee Road has been torn down to make room for a new location for CVS at Shaker Town Center. The CVS currently on the north side of Chagrin in Fall, 2012. The new building will include a drive-through window for prescription services. The new construction will continue through the winter months, as the weather permits.

CVS at Shaker Town Center moving

The Connection

Holiday-Winter 2011-2012

The Connection

Holiday-Winter 2011-2012
Benjamin Rose CEO elected chair of national aging board

Richard Brownlee, President and CEO of the Benjamin Rose Institute on Aging at 1900 Fairhill Road, Cleveland, has been elected to a three-year term as chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Council on Aging, a non-profit service and advocacy organization headquartered in Washington, DC. Brownlee has served on the NCOA board since 2008. He replaces Mark Charles Fishy of Fordham University as chair.

Brownlee joined Benjamin Rose as president and CEO in 2002. Prior to that he served as Secretary for Aging for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He was Executive Director of the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging from 1991-1995.

The main focus of BRIA is to assist older people and their families to live successfully in the community BRIA is comprised of the Service Center, the Margaret Blanke Rose Research Institute, and the Katz Policy Institute, as well as the Margaret Wagner Apartments for low-income seniors. For more information go to www.benrose.org

Larchmere Mural

“Dreamasker” on behalf of her class.

Richard Goldmesser’s nomination of “In Cold Blood” is included in the mural, as is “Iacocca, An Autobiography,” nominated by Ron Minster of Shaker Quality Auto Body.

And of course to identify and ground the mural to the very building it’s (literally) anchored to, the first two books (left to right) are “The Bookkeeper” and “The Book and Lot” Guide to the Murals, “two Litho” half of the businesses housed in 1001 Larchmere – Strong Bowling and Loganberry Books.

The mural depicts the spines of 50 books, and installed, is 2 feet high and 71.5 feet long. The artwork is not painted directly onto the building’s facade, but instead is a series of 22 vinyl-coated polyester banners, each 4 1/2 feet wide by 12 feet high, printed at Morgan Litho. Together with artists Bill Hour and Diana Petruskas, artists Gene Epstein, who created the Larchmere Mural with the leadership and action needed to foster well-maintained, economically strong neighborhoods.

Larchmere’s newest piece of public art came about through the cooperation of The Larchmere Mural Committee, composed of neighborhood residents and merchants, with the help of SHAD (the Shaker Square Area Development Corp.) and the support of the Saint Luke’s Foundation.

Shaker Heights beads for baroque oboists

On Saturday December 17 from 1 pm to 6 pm, Lake Erie Artists Gallery will be hosting local artists from The Velvet Box in Berea, Ohio for a Trunk Show. The Velvet Box makes handmade lampwork glass beads that fit on the popular Pandora style bracelets. The Velvet Box will be designing a special bead for Lake Erie Artists Gallery that will be included in the Shaker Heights coves of red and white, and will be exclusively published through Lake Erie Artists Gallery. The first five customers who attend the Trunk Show will be given one of the new Shaker Heights beads for free. Other customers will be able to purchase the bead. In addition, customers will be able to get a special price on beads during the show, buy 3 beads, and get the 4th free.

Lake Erie Artists bar unique beads

A poetry performance capped off the dedication of Larchmere’s February 6.

The “Dreamasker” on behalf of her class.

Richard Goldmesser’s nomination of “In Cold Blood” is included in the mural, as is “Iacocca, An Autobiography,” nominated by Ron Minster of Shaker Quality Auto Body.

And of course to identify and ground the mural to the very building it’s (literally) anchored to, the first two books (left to right) are “The Bookkeeper” and “The Book and Lot” Guide to the Murals, “two Litho” half of the businesses housed in 1001 Larchmere – Strong Bowling and Loganberry Books.

The mural depicts the spines of 50 books, and installed, is 2 feet high and 71.5 feet long. The artwork is not painted directly onto the building’s facade, but instead is a series of 22 vinyl-coated polyester banners, each 4 1/2 feet wide by 12 feet high, printed at Morgan Litho. Together with artists Bill Hour and Diana Petruskas, artists Gene Epstein, who created the Larchmere Mural with the leadership and action needed to foster well-maintained, economically strong neighborhoods.

Larchmere’s newest piece of public art came about through the cooperation of The Larchmere Mural Committee, composed of neighborhood residents and merchants, with the help of SHAD (the Shaker Square Area Development Corp.) and the support of the Saint Luke’s Foundation.

Shaker Heights beads for baroque oboists

On Saturday December 17 from 1 pm to 6 pm, Lake Erie Artists Gallery will be hosting local artists from The Velvet Box in Berea, Ohio for a Trunk Show. The Velvet Box makes handmade lampwork glass beads that fit on the popular Pandora style bracelets. The Velvet Box will be designing a special bead for Lake Erie Artists Gallery that will be included in the Shaker Heights coves of red and white, and will be exclusively published through Lake Erie Artists Gallery. The first five customers who attend the Trunk Show will be given one of the new Shaker Heights beads for free. Other customers will be able to purchase the bead. In addition, customers will be able to get a special price on beads during the show, buy 3 beads, and get the 4th free.

Lake Erie Artists bar unique beads

A poetry performance capped off the dedication of Larchmere’s February 6.

The “Dreamasker” on behalf of her class.

Richard Goldmesser’s nomination of “In Cold Blood” is included in the mural, as is “Iacocca, An Autobiography,” nominated by Ron Minster of Shaker Quality Auto Body.

And of course to identify and ground the mural to the very building it’s (literally) anchored to, the first two books (left to right) are “The Bookkeeper” and “The Book and Lot” Guide to the Murals, “two Litho” half of the businesses housed in 1001 Larchmere – Strong Bowling and Loganberry Books.

The mural depicts the spines of 50 books, and installed, is 2 feet high and 71.5 feet long. The artwork is not painted directly onto the building’s facade, but instead is a series of 22 vinyl-coated polyester banners, each 4 1/2 feet wide by 12 feet high, printed at Morgan Litho. Together with artists Bill Hour and Diana Petruskas, artists Gene Epstein, who created the Larchmere Mural with the leadership and action needed to foster well-maintained, economically strong neighborhoods.

Larchmere’s newest piece of public art came about through the cooperation of The Larchmere Mural Committee, composed of neighborhood residents and merchants, with the help of SHAD (the Shaker Square Area Development Corp.) and the support of the Saint Luke’s Foundation.

Shaker Heights beads for baroque oboists

On Saturday December 17 from 1 pm to 6 pm, Lake Erie Artists Gallery will be hosting local artists from The Velvet Box in Berea, Ohio for a Trunk Show. The Velvet Box makes handmade lampwork glass beads that fit on the popular Pandora style bracelets. The Velvet Box will be designing a special bead for Lake Erie Artists Gallery that will be included in the Shaker Heights coves of red and white, and will be exclusively published through Lake Erie Artists Gallery. The first five customers who attend the Trunk Show will be given one of the new Shaker Heights beads for free. Other customers will be able to purchase the bead. In addition, customers will be able to get a special price on beads during the show, buy 3 beads, and get the 4th free.

Lake Erie Artists bar unique beads

A poetry performance capped off the dedication of Larchmere’s February 6.

The “Dreamasker” on behalf of her class.

Richard Goldmesser’s nomination of “In Cold Blood” is included in the mural, as is “Iacocca, An Autobiography,” nominated by Ron Minster of Shaker Quality Auto Body.

And of course to identify and ground the mural to the very building it’s (literally) anchored to, the first two books (left to right) are “The Bookkeeper” and “The Book and Lot” Guide to the Murals, “two Litho” half of the businesses housed in 1001 Larchmere – Strong Bowling and Loganberry Books.

The mural depicts the spines of 50 books, and installed, is 2 feet high and 71.5 feet long. The artwork is not painted directly onto the building’s facade, but instead is a series of 22 vinyl-coated polyester banners, each 4 1/2 feet wide by 12 feet high, printed at Morgan Litho. Together with artists Bill Hour and Diana Petruskas, artists Gene Epstein, who created the Larchmere Mural with the leadership and action needed to foster well-maintained, economically strong neighborhoods.

Larchmere’s newest piece of public art came about through the cooperation of The Larchmere Mural Committee, composed of neighborhood residents and merchants, with the help of SHAD (the Shaker Square Area Development Corp.) and the support of the Saint Luke’s Foundation.

Shaker Heights beads for baroque oboists

On Saturday December 17 from 1 pm to 6 pm, Lake Erie Artists Gallery will be hosting local artists from The Velvet Box in Berea, Ohio for a Trunk Show. The Velvet Box makes handmade lampwork glass beads that fit on the popular Pandora style bracelets. The Velvet Box will be designing a special bead for Lake Erie Artists Gallery that will be included in the Shaker Heights coves of red and white, and will be exclusively published through Lake Erie Artists Gallery. The first five customers who attend the Trunk Show will be given one of the new Shaker Heights beads for free. Other customers will be able to purchase the bead. In addition, customers will be able to get a special price on beads during the show, buy 3 beads, and get the 4th free.
Shaker Heights will celebrate its 100th birthday in 2012 with the theme “Honoring the Past, Celebrating the Future.” Shaker Heights plans a year-long series of events to commemorate the city’s Centennial in 2012. On January 21, the Opening Ceremony will be staged at the Shaker Heights High School Auditorium. The program, produced by Jon Lullen, will take a look at Shaker Heights’ past and present with appearances and performances by residents.

Over Memorial Day, May 28, the expanded Shaker Heights parade will include neighborhood associations, block party groups, organizations, schools, and more with Centennial themed floats, cars, costumes and music. The parade will end at Thornton Park where residents can enjoy a pancake breakfast and a kid-friendly carnival.

“Come Back to Shaker Heights,” Shaker Heights Centennial Committee Chair, Mary Brown, says “has always been important to the community. It is a unique opportunity for families to come together, ‘promote’ their neighborhoods, and enjoy the company of others. It is the opportunity to relive the past, celebrate the present, and think about the future.”

On Saturday, September 1. That evening, through the holidays, Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop is open during the months of November and December. This temporary shop offers a mix of new toys, games and knick-knacks, holiday cards and calendars, crafts and prints from local artists, as well as vintage collectibles and curios. Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop also offers personalized shopping sessions for adults and children alike. Just like the “Toyshop” from Cleveland’s former department store, Higbee’s! Loganberry is offering sessions for children with a gift-giving goal. “A short interview will help determine the style and taste for both gift-giver and recipient,” owner Harriet Loganberry says, “because we want the gift to be perfect.” A minimum $10 budget is required for each person on the gift list, and reservations are required (although purchase is not). Custom shopping sessions are available for adults as well, with gift-giving advice for all ages and interest levels. Call 216-797-9800 for an appointment with a Loganberry Books/Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop staff member.

An all-star lineup of events include neighborhood associations, block party groups, organizations, schools, and more with Centennial themed floats, cars, costumes and music. The parade will end at Thornton Park where residents can enjoy a pancake breakfast and a kid-friendly carnival.

“Come Back to Shaker Heights,” a family-friendly citywide birthday party at Horseshoe Lake Park will include children’s activities, entertainment, games, music and birthday cupcakes for all on Saturday, September 1. That evening, an adult “block party” with jazz and dance bands will be held at Thornton Park from 7:00 pm to midnight. The evening concludes with “Shaker Unplugged,” where musically talented residents are encouraged to bring their instruments for an impromptu jam session. On Sunday, September 2, a historic home tour is being planned.

Closing ceremonies for the Centennial will take place in November, with a focus on the city’s future. A time capsule will be filled with Shaker memorabilia and buried or placed in a secure location.

A number of additional events are also planned, including a Centennial Cookbook, Community Service Days, a lecture/workshop series on creating sustainable and beautiful landscapes and gardens, and a Building Index Cards Project that will have a record for each Shaker Heights home online. Additional projects and more information can be found at shakertownline.com

A unique holiday bazaar, dubbed Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop is open during the months of November and December. This temporary shop offers a mix of new toys, games and knick-knacks, holiday cards and calendars, crafts and prints from local artists, as well as vintage collectibles and curios. Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop also offers personalized shopping sessions for adults and children alike. Just like the “Toyshop” from Cleveland’s former department store, Higbee’s! Loganberry is offering sessions for children with a gift-giving goal. “A short interview will help determine the style and taste for both gift-giver and recipient,” owner Harriet Loganberry says, “because we want the gift to be perfect.” A minimum $10 budget is required for each person on the gift list, and reservations are required (although purchase is not). Custom shopping sessions are available for adults as well, with gift-giving advice for all ages and interest levels. Call 216-797-9800 for an appointment with a Loganberry Books/Otis’ Old Curiosity Shop staff member.

by Carolyn Miller

Whenever you shop or pick up a prescription at the Shaker Square CVS you may encounter Keith Asamoto. He’s the hands-on manager checking inventory, greeting a customer or answering a customer’s question. And he is right at home at the local CVS because he grew up nearby on Ashwood Road in the Ludlow neighborhood.

During a recent visit the Connection to CVS Keith mentioned that he has come full circle. “I worked at Revco part time when I was a student at Shaker Heights High School,” he explained. “That Revco on Van Aken later became a CVS before its relocation here in Shaker Square,” he added. As he walked through an aisle in the pharmacy, he stopped to greet a shopper that he knew.

Keith’s parents, Ken and Hazel Asamoto, moved to Ludlow in 1963, before Keith was born, with their three children. They were Japanese-Americans who were born and grew up on the West Coast, his mother in Oregon and his dad in California. It was difficult, if not impossible, for many minorities to settle in suburban areas in Cleveland in the 1960s, due to racial discrimination, but the Ludlow neighborhood worked at becoming a shining exception. “The kids that I grew up with in Ludlow were a diverse group and we were good friends,” Keith says. “When I left to attend the University of Toledo I didn’t experience the same tolerant atmosphere that we had in Ludlow.” Keith’s widowed mother still lives in the Ashwood Road house.

Today, Keith, who is single, lives in the city of Cleveland in the West Park neighborhood, but he still enjoys his old neighborhood. “I like to see my nieces and nephews running around Ludlow when they visit my mom,” he said. When his siblings visit Cleveland they enjoy reunion meals at Yours Truly at Shaker Square. When he takes a break from work Keith likes to grab a sandwich at Dewey’s. At CVS his team includes 10 full-time employees and about 15 part-timers. There are three pharmacists, who provide coverage seven days a week including evenings until 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Keith reminded the Connection that if the shops are available at CVS, with a pharmacist providing the shots. “If we want this tour to be more than just a home tour,” says Mary Brown tour co-chair and professional local realtor. “It was about showcasing our single and double homes, condos and apartments, but also our surrounding retail shopping and many diverse restaurants. We are an urban area close to many great amenities from downtown Cleveland by the RTA rapid line to University Circle, art and cultural area.”

“The buzz that night was certainly about how much fun it is to live at the Square,” says Mary Powell, co-chair of the tour. Both events provided experiences that encouraged people to consider moving to one of the Shaker Square neighborhoods made-up of Chalk, Larchmere and Ludlow areas in Cleveland. The events also provided funding for a legacy gift to Shaker Square Bldg. landscape enhancement project.

By Susan Rotatori

A determined group of volunteers organized a unique home tour and a ‘never-done-before’ fundraiser this past September. The committee for the Neighborhoods of Shaker Square Home Tour held two simultaneous fundraisers at two locations on one night, and a home tour the next day.

On September 16th, a crisp and clear evening, the “Rooftop Revelry” event was held on two side-by-side, Morland Courts rooftop patios and another patio at Shaker Courts across Shaker Blvd. Supporters got to experience Cleveland’s skyline from the patios’ rooftops at dusk and continued the revelry later into the evening with a view of the city’s lights all aglow. Many attendees thought Shaker Blvd. from the rooftop looked like a boulevard in Paris. With live music in the background and hearty hors’ d’oeuvres and beverages, event-goers enjoyed themselves going from one patio to the next. At the end of the evening, everyone was picked up by Lolly the Trolley for one more ride around Shaker Square.

The following day, Saturday, September 17th, the “Neighborhoods of Shaker Square Home Tour” was held, and featured seven locations of unique single and double family homes, luxury condos, and an apartment. The home tour, the second presented in recent years, was designed to showcase the historic Shaker Square neighborhoods as a vibrant community in which to live, work and play.

“We want this tour to be more than just a home tour,” says Mary Brown tour co-chair and professional local realtor. “It was about showcasing our single and double homes, condos and apartments, but also our surrounding retail shopping and many diverse restaurants. We are an urban area close to many great amenities from downtown Cleveland by the RTA rapid line to University Circle, art and cultural area.”

“Shaker Heights will celebrate its 100th birthday in 2012 with the theme “Honoring the Past, Celebrating the Future.” Shaker Heights plans a year-long series of events to commemorate the city’s Centennial in 2012. On January 21, the Opening Ceremony will be staged at the Shaker Heights High School Auditorium. The program, produced by Jon Lullen, will take a look at Shaker Heights’ past and present with appearances and performances by residents. Over Memorial Day, May 28, the expanded Shaker Heights parade will include neighborhood associations, block party groups, organizations, schools, and more with Centennial themed floats, cars, costumes and music. The parade will end at Thornton Park where residents can enjoy a pancake breakfast and a kid-friendly carnival.

“Come Back to Shaker Heights,” a family-friendly citywide birthday party at Horseshoe Lake Park will include children’s activities, entertainment, games, music and birthday cupcakes for all on Saturday, September 1. That evening, an adult “block party” with jazz and dance bands will be held at Thornton Park from 7:00 pm to midnight. The evening concludes with “Shaker Unplugged,” where musically talented residents are encouraged to bring their instruments for an impromptu jam session. On Sunday, September 2, a historic home tour is being planned.

Closing ceremonies for the Centennial will take place in November, with a focus on the city’s future. A time capsule will be filled with Shaker memorabilia and buried or placed in a secure location.

A number of additional events are also planned, including a Centennial Cookbook, Community Service Days, a lecture/workshop series on creating sustainable and beautiful landscapes and gardens, and a Building Index Cards Project that will have a record for each Shaker Heights home online. Additional projects and more information can be found at shakertownline.com
Goodwill in Need of Gently Used Books

In addition to the clothing and small household goods Goodwill collects for resale, the voucher organization is also seeking gently used books to be sold to support Goodwill Industries. On average, revenue generated from selling items in Goodwill stores supports more than 3,000 individuals per year, helping those who sell used goods and those who find job, obtain prescriptions, get a winter coat and more.

The organization points out standing unneeded books around the house, rather than throwing them away not only helps families but helps the community as well, by keeping books out of dwindling landfill space. To donate your gently used books, drop them off at 2720 Van Aken Blvd., just east of Chagrin Shaker Square.

Welcome Office Net Central

For anyone who needs office space from a basic cubicle to a professional office, Office Net Central offers an office location for you. Entrepreneurs an office location for your business, students and others looking to have a dedicated workspace. Tables, cubicles and meeting spaces are all available at reasonable rates by the day, month or longer.

Customized packages are available as well. The company has moved the development of the Shaker Square community by offering workspaces and seminars for employment and business strategies. Contact Office Net Central at 216-225-1002 or go to officenetcentral.net.

Welcome Two New Merchants to Larchmere

Welcome to Look, a hair, nail and waxing studio at 27080 Larchmere, next to The Dancing Sheep, owned by Steve Chesnak and Laura King.

Welcome also to Second Home Salon, a second hand resale shop specializing in unique home décor and apparel at 27011 Larchmere. Watch for more information in the Spring edition of The Connection.

New Beer to History

Just beer to get to the Shaker Historical Society’s new website.

SASA’s new Accent

Scott and Brenda Kim, owners of Shaker Square’s SASA restaurant are planning an addition in University Circle. Mr. Kim plans a “pan-Asian” approach to the new restaurant called Asian Accent. He envisions a space open from lunchtime to late night that will draw everyone from Orchestra goers to students and workers from nearby hospitals. The opening is planned in Spring.

Sarah Bell of Brightford Road will be attending University of Michigan Medical School where she will be fellow shaker Hills High school graduate Emma Lawrence. Emma started the Women’s organization MedPLUS Connect with fellow Tar Heel and SHMS grad Lauren Sile. See their website for more details: http://shplusconnect.com.

Congratulations to new Shaker Heights City Councilwoman, Juliana Johnston Semenza, who reported that she was inspired to run after attending the It’s Not Your Mother’s Political program at Shaker Library co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters and The Flora Stone Mather Center for Women. The new councilwoman is now working on another insightful program this spring.

Laura King, owner of the Local Legal Aid for a Sunday CNN program that reaches millions of people from coast to coast and is a nationally distinguished civil rights lawyer and law professor.

Are you a high school student involved in an activity that is helping to improve race relations in your school or community? The University sponsors an annual awards program to high school students—the Princeton Prize in Race Relations. Princeton University sponsors an annual awards program to high school students—the Princeton Prize in Race Relations. Princeton University sponsors an annual awards program to high school students—the Princeton Prize in Race Relations. Applications postmarked by January 21, 2013 will be eligible for prizes—including cash awards up to $10,000 for prizewinners. The Princeton Prize in Race Relations was created to encourage young people who are working to increase understanding and cooperation among all races. For more information, go to www.princeton.edu/prize/,

Mr. Kim plans a “pan-Asian” approach to the new restaurant called Asian Accent. He envisions a space open from lunchtime to late night that will draw everyone from Orchestra goers to students and workers from nearby hospitals. The opening is planned in Spring.

Sarah Bell of Brightford Road will be attending University of Michigan Medical School where she will be fellow shaker Hills High school graduate Emma Lawrence. Emma started the Women’s organization MedPLUS Connect with fellow Tar Heel and SHMS grad Lauren Sile. See their website for more details: http://shplusconnect.com.

Congratulations to new Shaker Heights City Councilwoman, Juliana Johnston Semenza, who reported that she was inspired to run after attending the It’s Not Your Mother’s Political program at Shaker Library co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters and The Flora Stone Mather Center for Women. The new councilwoman is now working on another insightful program this spring.

Laura King, owner of the Local Legal Aid for a Sunday CNN program that reaches millions of people from coast to coast and is a nationally distinguished civil rights lawyer and law professor.

Are you a high school student involved in an activity that is helping to improve race relations in your school or community? The University sponsors an annual awards program to high school students—the Princeton Prize in Race Relations. Applications postmarked by January 21, 2013 will be eligible for prizes—including cash awards up to $10,000 for prizewinners. The Princeton Prize in Race Relations was created to encourage young people who are working to increase understanding and cooperation among all races. For more information, go to www.princeton.edu/prize/,

Mr. Kim plans a “pan-Asian” approach to the new restaurant called Asian Accent. He envisions a space open from lunchtime to late night that will draw everyone from Orchestra goers to students and workers from nearby hospitals. The opening is planned in Spring.

Sarah Bell of Brightford Road will be attending University of Michigan Medical School where she will be fellow shaker Hills High school graduate Emma Lawrence. Emma started the Women’s organization MedPLUS Connect with fellow Tar Heel and SHMS grad Lauren Sile. See their website for more details: http://shplusconnect.com.

Congratulations to new Shaker Heights City Councilwoman, Juliana Johnston Semenza, who reported that she was inspired to run after attending the It’s Not Your Mother’s Political program at Shaker Library co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters and The Flora Stone Mather Center for Women. The new councilwoman is now working on another insightful program this spring.

Laura King, owner of the Local Legal Aid for a Sunday CNN program that reaches millions of people from coast to coast and is a nationally distinguished civil rights lawyer and law professor.

Are you a high school student involved in an activity that is helping to improve race relations in your school or community? The University sponsors an annual awards program to high school students—the Princeton Prize in Race Relations. Applications postmarked by January 21, 2013 will be eligible for prizes—including cash awards up to $10,000 for prizewinners. The Princeton Prize in Race Relations was created to encourage young people who are working to increase understanding and cooperation among all races. For more information, go to www.princeton.edu/prize/,
Shaker Square & Larchmere – Great Reasons to Shop Local

“Never discredit the small business and its vital importance to both the economy and community. Statistics from the U.S. Business Administration state that the nearly 28 million small businesses in the United States create 65 percent of net new jobs. Small business advocacy group The 3/50 Project takes it even further, with every $100 that is spent at a local retailer, $68 will return to the community through taxes and payroll. It only furthers the need to increase awareness about small businesses which are essentially the backbone of a community.

When you support small businesses, you support your city, your local area all around. It gets right down to the heart of the matter, where the small businesses, in the case of small businesses will truly help you the most.”

For More Details, Call 216-242-6200.

Elegant & Edible Garden Series Kickoff Party

Visit SHAD on the Web

Be sure to visit our website, www.ShakerSquare.com. We can also register for email updates, see PayPal join or renew your membership, and view past issues of The Connection. You can also check out our calendar of events. You can connect to the Larchmere merchants page, www.larchmereontario.com and the official web site of Shaker Square, www.shakersquare.com.

Tickets are $15 per ticket, and each ticket includes 2 drink tickets and appetizers. The Invitation follows by the postmark at 715, with the exception of Friday, February 21st. Please make checks payable to: Friends (Household) $50-$99

For more information on Community Calendar events:

Shaker Square Public Library: 216-995-2010

Bed & Breakfast Shaker Heights: 216-561-7451

www.ShakerLibrary.com

tickets are available for the Shaker Heights Centennial – Opening Ceremony:

Tickets are $15. Contact Centennial Coordinator through the duration of the exhibit including programs on sharing, carding, spinning, weaving, designing, and marketing of their own fiber work. These events will be held in the library and throughout the Shaker Historical Society’s building on the dates and times listed. For more information, call the library at 216-561-7451.

For more information on Community Calendar events:

Shaker Square Public Library: 216-995-2010

Bed & Breakfast Shaker Heights: 216-561-7451

www.ShakerLibrary.com

Nature Center at Shaker Lakes

11535 Shaker Boulevard 216-623-7046

www.LudlowCommunity.org

Any questions? Call 421.2100

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!

SHAD invites you to support our neighborhood-improvement initiatives by joining our organization. Besides knowing that you’re helping SHAD achieve its goals, as a member you will also get direct benefits. • The Connection newspaper is mailed first class directly to your home. The newspapers will keep you current on all that’s going on here, along with where to shop and eat, who’s where in the area, and more. • Each member can also vote on a free classified ad a year (great for selling items or offering a service). Or if you’re not voting a prep, as a member you can run a free classified ad in the same issue. • And, finally, SHAD members receive discounts from local merchants. Your membership will pay for itself in no time. We’re offering membership for free for the next three months, so check out the list on the page above.

See up for the Connection at shad.org!

Join SHAD Today!
A positive and supportive learning environment make Jump Start Gymnastics a premier destination for gymnastics, fitness and fun. USGA trained coaches. Toddler-adult classes. All skills welcome. Affordable fees & sibling discounts. Convenient class times, weekends too. Awesome birthday parties, fantastic summer camps and classes.

Save the summer dates:

June 4 - 8 Preschool camp
June 11-15 Gymnastics camp
August 6-10 “Girls Only” Gymnastics Camp-6 & over
8 Week summer class session at reduced prices, June-July

Jump Start Gymnastics
23645 Mercantile Road
Beachwood, OH 44122
216.896.0295
www.jsgymnastics.com
email: jsgymnastics@sbcglobal

Great fun. Great fitness. Great gymnastics!

Perfect for the Holidays and Beyond!

Larchmere Boulevard
One Block North of Shaker Square
Information: 421-3100
On the web: www.larchmere.com

DiVita’s
Larchmere Deli & Beverage
Deli • Fine Wine • Imported Beer
Party Trays • Gift Baskets • Ohio Lottery • 12727 Larchmere Blvd. (216) 721-0220
Open 7 days: Mon-Sat, 9:30am to 8pm
And now open SUNDAYS, 11am to 6pm

Big Al’s Diner
12600 Larchmere Blvd. • Cleveland, Ohio (216) 791-8550
COMPLETE TAKE-OUT
M-Sat. 6:30 am - 2:30 pm
Sun. 8:00 am - 2:30 pm
Breakfast served all day
Daily and Weekend Breakfast and Lunch Specials
Open Every Day (except Christmas)

www.finepoints.com
www.jsgymnastics.com